US Forest Service

Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks are bordered by land managed by the US Forest Service. If you drive between the Giant Forest and Grant Grove, you'll briefly leave the national parks and drive through the Sequoia National Forest. The forest contains many campgrounds, trails, and lodges. Learn more about these facilities in the park newspaper or call the Hume Lake Ranger District office at 559-338-2251 (TDD available).

CELL SERVICE & INTERNET

Cell phone service is only available for specific carriers near park entrance stations. Free wireless internet is available at Foothills and Kings Canyon visitor centers.

Obtaining an Access Pass

The free Access Pass is available for all U.S. citizens or permanent residents with permanent disabilities. This pass covers admission at more than 2,000 federal recreation sites, including national parks, wildlife refuges, national forests, BLM sites, and more. The Access Pass also provides a discount on some federal facilities and services fees, such as camping. The pass generally does not apply to special recreation permit fees or fees at businesses in the parks, including Crystal Cave tickets.

To get your pass, ask at any park entrance station. You'll be asked to sign a form confirming your eligibility. Medical documentation is not required. You can also obtain a pass through the mail with an application and $10 processing fee. Go to www.nps.gov/planyourvisit/passes.htm for a printable application and more information.

Service Animals

Service animals are welcome in Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks, including all trails, facilities, campgrounds, and ranger programs. As defined by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), a service animal is any dog (or miniature horse) that is individually trained to do work or perform tasks for the benefit of an individual with a disability. They do not include emotional support, comfort, or companion animals; animals used for crime deterrence; service animals in training; or any type of pet.

Service animals must be under control and on a leash, except when a leash interferes with the service animal's tasks. Beware—taking service animals into areas where wildlife is common carries unique risks. Animal food attracts bears and must be kept in bear-resistant storage containers. Dogs may trigger an aggressive response from animals, even deer. They may put you at an increased risk for confrontation with bears, coyotes, and other wildlife. Also, disease can be passed between dogs and wildlife. Keep animals close, securely store their food in wildlife-resistant food storage containers or your car, and properly dispose of waste to help prevent the spread of disease. Remember to check your animal for ticks, which are common year-round.

If you're heading into the backcountry, treat water from rivers, streams, and lakes before drinking, as waterways that may contain giardia can infect both humans and dogs. If camping, keep your service animal in your tent at night.

AUDIO DESCRIPTION

Download the official park app, NPS Sequoia & Kings Canyon, for audio descriptions of outdoor exhibits and other features found throughout the parks.

BRaille & TACTILE EXHIBITS

You may borrow a Braille version of the official park map at park visitor centers.

Outdoor exhibits along the Grant Tree Trail have Braille text and tactile features. Kings Canyon Visitor Center and Hospital Rock Picnic Area have tactile interpretive exhibits. Tactile topographic models are available outside Cedar Grove Visitor Center and Mineral King Ranger Station.

For People with Limited Mobility

ACCESSIBLE PARKING

All striped and paved parking lots in Sequoia and Kings Canyon have at least one parking space that is designated accessible, including van parking with access aisles. Unmarked spaces are generally paved and even. Some, however, include slopes or limited space.

Temporary accessible-parking placards are available for people who have limited mobility but do not have a DMV-issued, accessible-parking placard or driver's license. Ask at visitor centers for a placard. No documentation is required.

In summer, parking at the Big Trees Trail and the General Sherman Tree accessible parking areas is only available with an accessible parking placard.

Temporary accessible-parking placards are available at park visitor centers.

BORROW A WHEELCHAIR

Borrow a manual wheelchair at Giant Forest Museum, Lodgepole Visitor Center, or Kings Canyon Visitor Center. Wheelchairs are free and available on a first-come, first-served basis. Be prepared to provide your address and phone number. Wheelchairs may be used anywhere in the parks, but must be returned to the visitor center where they were borrowed by closing time on the same day.

SEQUOIA SHUTTLE

In summers and during some winter holidays, free shuttles provide service to visitor centers, campgrounds, trails, and other points of interest throughout the Giant Forest and Lodgepole areas. The shuttle also offers service from Visalia and Three Rivers, California, with the park entrance fee included in the fare (reservations required). For reservations, visit www.sequoiashuttle.com or call (877) BUS-HIKE. All shuttles are wheelchair-accessible and drivers announce all stops. The shuttle schedule can be found at the website above, or in your park newspaper.

LODGING

Wuksachi Lodge in Sequoia National Park and John Muir Lodge in Kings Canyon National Park have rooms with roll-in showers, widened doors, grab bars in toilet stalls, raised toilet seats, low-density carpet, and peepholes at a lower height. Beds are between 24 and 29 inches in height, depending on room type. Lodge parking and common areas follow ADA standards. Learn more by calling (866) 807-3598.

CAMPGROUNDS

Campsites designated as accessible are available in most campgrounds. Each of these sites generally includes an extended picnic table, raised fire ring, raised grill, accessible parking space, level tent pad, food storage locker within reach, and stable and level paths to campground facilities. Some park campsites may not be designated as accessible, but may be suitable depending on your abilities.

First-come, first-served accessible campsites are available for general use if unoccupied after 5:00 pm. Please contact a campground host or park ranger if an accessible site is improperly occupied before 5:00 pm while other sites remain available.

TRAILS

Park trails range from paved and accessible, to rugged and leading deep into wilderness. Get trail information online and at visitor centers, and check conditions before heading out. Trail conditions and accessibility can change quickly due to weather, falling trees, rockfall, erosion, flooding, snow, and more. Park crews work as quickly as possible to clear obstacles, but conditions may differ from descriptions, especially from fall through late spring.

RESTAURANTS AND MARKETS

Most dining opportunities are located at Lodgepole, Grant Grove Village, and Cedar Grove. Restaurants and markets in Sequoia and Kings Canyon are operated by Delaware North Company and generally follow ADA guidelines.

PICNICKING

Picnic areas with spots that are designated as accessible include accessible parking, at least one extended picnic table, and accessible restrooms. Some also feature wheelchair-accessible barbecue grills. Not all picnic areas are accessible.

Extended picnic tables offer clearance for wheelchair users.

VISITOR CENTERS

Foothills, Lodgepole, and Kings Canyon visitor centers, and Giant Forest Museum are wheelchair-accessible. However, the historic Cedar Grove Visitor Center building has barriers (uneven thresholds, narrow passages) that may impede the use of some mobility devices. Mineral King Ranger Station is only reachable by stairs.

RANGER PROGRAMS

Rangers offer a variety of programs, including visitor center talks, walks, evening programs, and special events. Many ranger walks are on short, paved paths, but some involve navigating rugged terrain. Evening programs are generally held in campground amphitheaters with bench seating and assistive listening devices available. Check at visitor centers or campground bulletin boards for program descriptions, times, and accessibility information.

WINTER

Winter in Sequoia and Kings Canyon is beautiful, but can bring its own challenges. Check weather conditions before your trip. Although some years see very little snow, winter storms may cover the parks in snow and ice as late as Memorial Day. Some park roads close or have reduced access, including access to Kings Canyon and Mineral King. The Generals Highway and Highway 180 are regularly plowed, but tire chains are occasionally required. In severe weather conditions, the highway between Giant Forest and Grant Village may close.

Two paved trails, the Big Trees Trail in Giant Forest and the Grant Tree Trail in Grant Grove, are both open in winter.

Due to rapidly changing weather conditions, however, these trails may not always be accessible.

Rangers offer free snowshoe walks from Giant Forest Museum and Kings Canyon Visitor Center, conditions permitting. Assistive snowshoes and poles for balance stabilization are available.

AMPHITHEATERS

In the summer, check at visitor centers and campground bulletin boards for evening ranger program schedules. Some amphitheaters are within campgrounds, but programs are open to everyone. Some amphitheaters have parking and restrooms nearby. Seating consists of wooden benches on a slight to moderate slope. Assistive listening devices are available for programs.

RESTROOMS

Accessible restrooms with sinks and flush toilets are located at all major developed areas within the parks. Some picnic areas, campgrounds, and other more rustic locations have accessible vault toilets with sinks. Accessible restrooms have routes with a wide turning radius and grab bars. Sinks are at an approachable height with front wheelchair clearance and water faucets are operable with a closed fist. Utilities are generally within reach range.

SHOWERS

Accessible pay showers are available at Lodgepole Market and Cedar Grove Village. Showers are open during market business hours.

VIEWPOINTS & OVERLOOKS

Scenic viewpoints and pull-outs are located throughout Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks, primarily on the Generals Highway and Highway 180 between Grant Grove and Cedar Grove. Most do not have designated or striped parking, but are on flat asphalt. Many viewsheds are visible without exiting your vehicle.

The Foothills Area of Sequoia National Park

The foothills of the Sierra Nevada are dry, tough and rugged, and very hot from May through October. It is the most diverse region of the park, inhabited by unique plants and animals that have adapted to its dry climate. Deep river canyons cut through the rolling hills, offering great recreation opportunities for fishing and swimming.

FEATURED EXPERIENCES

Hospital Rock Picnic Area

Known as Pah-din by local Native Americans, Hospital Rock provides a place to picnic, hike to the river, view pictographs, and enjoy accessible exhibits. Adjacent to the parking lot, you will find exhibits describing why Hospital Rock is a special place for diverse groups of people, especially for California Native Americans. The exhibit includes some audio material and three tactile panels.

A paved, moderately-sloped path leads to an accessible flush toilet, a water fountain, and picnic tables. There is one extended picnic table on a paved, level area. This accessible picnic site also includes a grill.

Cross the highway from the parking lot to discover pictographs, bedrock mortars, and to reach the river. The area around the pictographs, while flat, is bound by two roads—beware of traffic approaching with limited visibility. Access to the pictographs viewing platform is via a set of short, steep stairs. For those with limited mobility, the pictograph can be seen from ground level with binoculars. The area around the bedrock mortars is relatively flat and paved. Near the bedrock mortars, a steep, narrow, and hard-packed path with some stairs leads to the river.

Parking: There are two designated accessible parking spaces at the picnic area with a shared access aisle. They are on a significant slope that may not meet everyone's needs.

Tunnel Rock

The historic Generals Highway once went through this tunnel, blasted through the rock by the Civilian Conservation Corps. Now, it's a popular photo spot with iconic views. Access to the base of the rock and the tunnel is level and paved. Be aware—poison oak is common here.

Parking: Two designated accessible parking spaces are available on the Tunnel Rock side of the road. Parking is on a slight slope, and does not include access aisles.

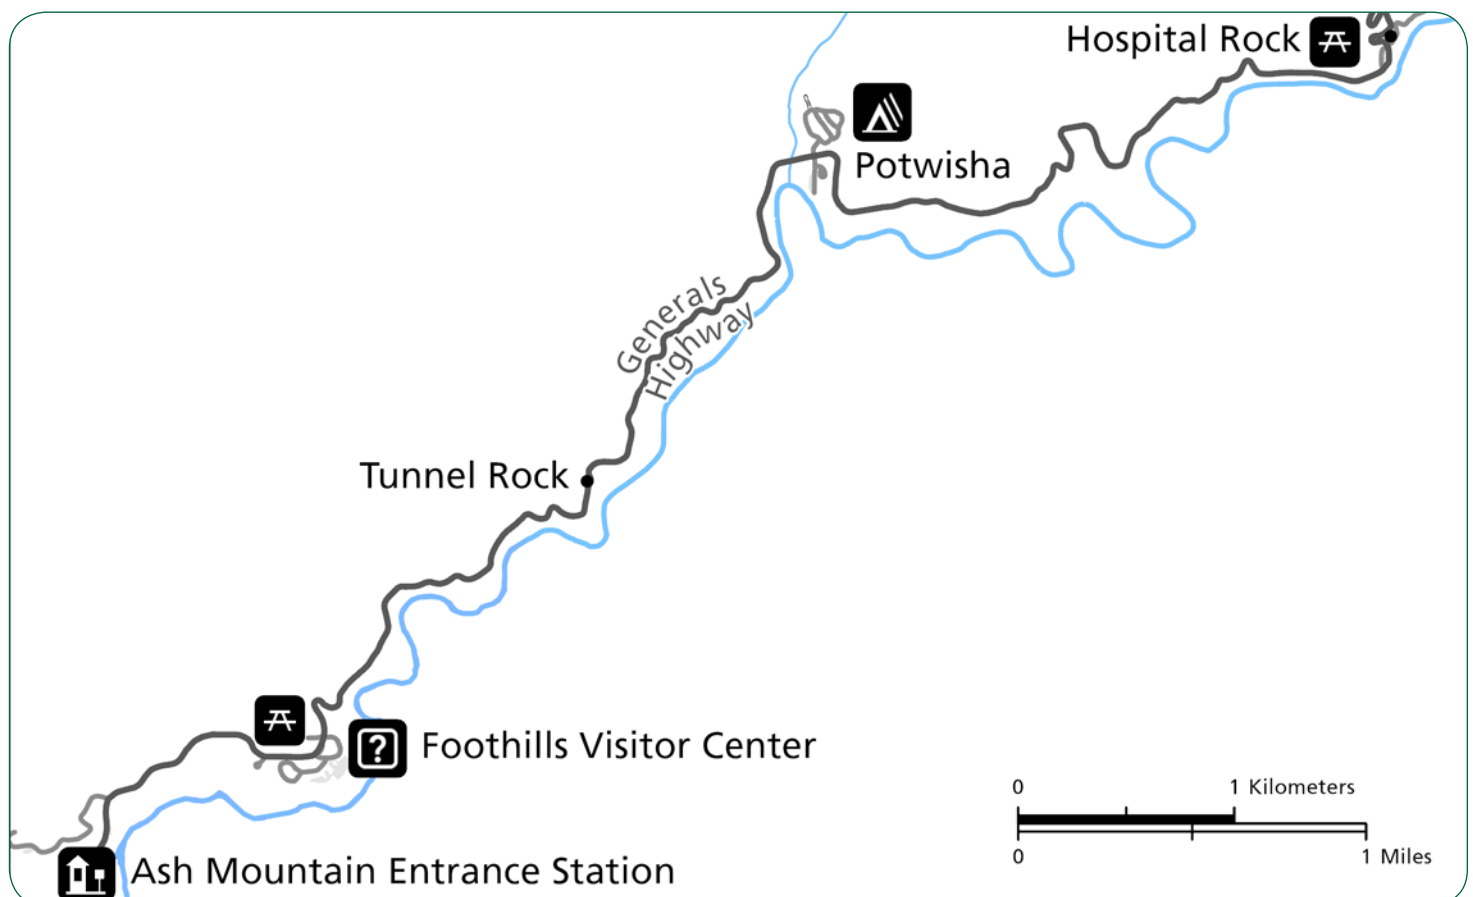

Historic Park Entrance Sign

Take a picture at the historic Sequoia Park Entrance Sign. A steep, rocky trail goes to the river, and is not suitable for those using mobility devices.

Parking: A slight slope leads from an accessible parking space to the wooden sign.

Fortunately, many of sequoias escaped the saw, including the second-largest tree in the world, the General Grant Tree.

Grant Grove Village has many services and amenities that make it a convenient place to stop for the day or stay the night. Many campgrounds and lodging options are available and all are centrally located around the village and visitor center.

Cedar Grove is in the heart of the Kings Canyon, a glacially carved canyon with granite peaks, lush meadows, and a crystal clear river. Often overlooked by travelers, Cedar Grove is a great place to get away from the crowds. Spend time by the river, discover waterfalls, or explore the many scenic vistas.

The Cedar Grove area closes in mid-November and reopens in late April when the Kings Canyon stretch of California Highway 180 is open for the season.
